

BEATS MARY'S FAMOUS LAMB

Woolly Lawn Mower Proved of Practical Value to Cincinnati Man During Hot Spell.

Louis Goecke, better known as "Pat" in amateur circles, was mowing the grass on the lawn of his home in Cincinnati recently. In the course of the work he was cutting alongside a hedge with a pair of clippers.

"Ba-na," came from the other side of the hedge.

Goecke looked up. A neighbor was sitting on the porch reading.

Goecke resumed his clipping.

"Ba-na!" sounded again.

Goecke straightened up and shot fierce glances at his neighbor. But the latter's face was concealed back of the newspaper.

The clipping proceeded, and then again came "Ba-na!"

Finally Goecke threw down his clippers, stepped to the neighbor's porch, and said:

"Are you gazing me?"

The other looked up with surprise.

"Gazing you? Why, no! What makes you think so?"

"Well, stop that 'ba-na-ing!'" Goecke said.

"Oh, that's it. I'll show you what that is," and the neighbor went back among the bushes and pulled out a lamb. "I bought it yesterday," he explained.

Immediately Goecke was seized with an idea. "Lend it to me, will you?" he asked. The neighbor was obliging. The lamb finished the grass cutting job, and Goecke enjoyed the cool and quiet of a shady nook on his porch.

GREATEST IN PLAINS STATES

Matter of Farm Risks Established by Records Kept by the Department of Agriculture.

Risks in the production of three great staple crops—corn, wheat and oats—are greatest in the plains states, extending from Texas to North Dakota. This general fact is established by the average deviation of the yield per acre from the average yield, computed by the bureau of crop estimates, Department of Agriculture, for these three crops for each state from the records of 50 years.

On the other hand, the North Atlantic and the western states are regions of comparatively low risk, or deviation of yield per acre from the average, for wheat and oats, and the entire Atlantic coast and the west for corn.

The great corn belt, with its enormous production and surplus above local consumption, is, after all, prominently subject to risks of weather, insects and disease in the production of crops, and, while it would be going too far to say of this region as a whole that the results of its agriculture are either "a feast or a famine," yet there is a tendency in this direction as the area covered by the average becomes more restricted to county, township and individual farm.

Defense, Then Prosecution Rests.

Mr. Shanigan inserted his key quietly; walked softly, undressed silently and crept into bed.

All his precautions were in vain. Mrs. Shanigan had been awake listening and waiting for him. She told him she supposed he had been working at the office again; that she did not believe that story or any other he had ever told her; that she did not have to put up with him; that she could have a career; that even now the committee was waiting to see if she would accept the nomination for mayor; that she had been warned against him; that she was not now the foolish sentimental girl she was when she married him, and then a deep snore showed that—

The defense rested.

Now everyone knows the prosecution should rest first; so Mrs. Shanigan jabbed Mr. Shanigan with her elbow; shook him; fussed, fumed, scolded and wept; but it was no use. He slept on, soundly.

The prosecution also rested.—Katherine Negley, in Judge.

Primitive People.

The natives of St. Hilda, in the Hebrides, have decided to abandon a quaint custom which they have followed for more than a century, of electing their own queen. Hereafter they will take the natural descendant. They have deposed Queen Margot and will recognize Mary as their sovereign. This news comes as the first communication from the island since last September and was brought to London by a vessel which delivered census papers at the island. The natives there speak only Gaelic, but the census papers were printed in English. Otherwise the chief happenings on the island include an influenza epidemic, which caused many deaths. Persons aboard the ship who could converse with the natives said the chief question on the island was whether the war had broken out again.

Ferryboat Pavilion.

As a fitting complement to a swimming pool built on a Connecticut estate recently, a ferryboat pavilion has been erected, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This boat has all the fittings of a regular craft of its type, being equipped above with a lifeboat, life preservers, funnel and pilot house. The cabin is a spacious dance floor, where diversion from the swimming sport may be indulged in. The swimming pool forms a forward deck for the ferry, and is surrounded by a sidewalk set with benches and chairs.

Equal Taxation League Being Formed To Aid In New State Constitution

Delegates from many if not all of the counties of the states will meet in Jefferson City on October 4, for the purpose of forming the Equal Taxation League which will name a list of fifteen delegates at large to the coming constitutional convention.

Who is back of the organization is not known. The first heard of it was in Shannon County when a convention was held and delegates to the meeting were named. The delegates are: Representative D. L. Bales, Dr. F. Hyde, L. B. Shuck, and D. F. Rinehart.

The purpose of the organization is said to be to secure delegates to the convention who are pledged to retain in the proposed new constitution Sec. 2 of Article 4 and Sections 3, 4, 6 and 7 of Article 10 of the present constitution. These are the sections which guarantee that each county, regardless of population, shall have at least one representative in the General Assembly and that all property shall be taxed alike. Throughout the state a clamor is going up from certain interests for a constitutional provision which will permit the legislature to name one rate of taxation for one class of property, a lesser rate for other classes and total exemption for still other classes. This would necessarily mean higher taxes on property that is taxed to make up for that which is exempted, which is nothing short of a species of single tax. In recent years the legislature passed laws practically exempting certain property from taxation, but these acts were recently declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, and it is the object of this organization to retain these very desirable features in the new constitution.—Missouri State Journal.

Many Like This in Ste. Genevieve.

Similar Cases Being Published In Each Issue.

The following case is but one of many occurring daily in Ste. Genevieve. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof. Levi LaRose, prop. restaurant, 138 N. Main St., Ste. Genevieve, says: "I can always say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. A number of years ago when I was working in the mines, my back was weakened by the heavy work and my kidneys were disordered. The secretions passed too often at night. There was a dull aching across my back all the time and at times I had sharp shooting pains through my kidneys. This hurt me a great deal when I would have to lift or bend over. A friend who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results told me to try them and after using them a short time I was much better. My back was strengthened and I haven't had any trouble with my kidneys since. I can recommend Doan's to anyone troubled with their kidneys."
